Bibliography

This as the name suggests is a list of books that may be useful when working with children and young people. The list of books has been loosely split into self explanatory categories. You will find the following information in the list; Title, Author and ISBN.

Webography

This as the name suggests is a list of websites that may be useful when working with children and young people. The list of websites has been loosely split into self explanatory categories. You will find the following information in the list; The site address and a brief description of the site.

Devotional Talks

These talks are taken from a lunch time club resource I was part of creating with some other youth leaders. The talks are based around clips from films or TV programmes but with a Christian message. There are two indexes one lists the films / TV Programmes and the talks taken from them, the other lists the talks alphabetically. Each 'talk' has brief information on where to find the relevant clip and what to say. There is not a 'script' as we feel this allows each talk to be made relevant to each group hearing it. The idea behind these talks was to keep them short, keep them relevant whilst using a media known to the young people.

Games

These games are taken from a lunch time club resource I was part of creating with some other youth leaders. The games are 'paper based' that is they require paper and a pen to be played. We used them just before talk as a way of calming down whilst still playing. There is a 'how to use these games' file which describes each game and will hopefully enable you to make more of your own.

I hope you find this resource useful. If you would like to ask any further questions or make any suggestions or share resources you have found useful yourself do please contact me.
